

Conversation 2 - Food Matters, Our choices affect climate

Wednesday 26 October 1.00-4.30

Summerhall, 1 Summerhall Square EH9 1PL

Aim

The aim of this event was to “explore how our everyday dietary choices - the food we eat and where it comes from - all have a greater or lesser impact on climate chaos”.
What does "locavore" mean? And do "food miles" matter? How much greenhouse gas emissions are associated with meat and dairy production? What can and should we do at home and in our workplaces?

Speakers

Heather Anderson, co-Proprietor of Whitmuir Farm and local food champion with Eleanor Cunningham, Proprietor, Edinburgh Larder, on local provenance and Richard Whiston, Community Gardener, Gracemount Grows Stronger, Transition Edinburgh South.

Summary of the outcomes of the discussions

- The speakers introduced the topic (related information are linked).
- The raised concerns and issues were discussed and compiled in round table.
- Ideas and action were then concluded.
